=== Delays radio audio on your TV tuner card Price: FREE Publisher: Adobe Systems License: Free File Size: 123KB (Program installation is a breeze, the process requires no further assistance) (Program installation is a breeze, the process requires no further assistance) The latest version of Master System (1.1) was released today, and in order to get the most recent set of updates, you'll need to update the game. If you're not familiar with how to update a game, let me explain: The version number (of a game, movie, or other software, for example) represents the patch level of the software. The older the patch level, the older the version number. For example, the Master System version 1.0 patch is called version 1.1, or v1.1. To get updates, you update the patch level (which is what I'm trying to do). So, if I tell you that a patch is v1.1, that means it is the newest update and you would update the patch level (with a new patch such as v1.1.1, v1.1.2, etc). It is important to note that the v1.1 patch is not the same as v1.1.1 or v1.1.2. But what is v1.1.1, v1.1.2, etc? The update version numbers are the incremental patch levels for the same patch. So, when I update a patch, I tell you it is v1.1.0, and then, when I decide to update that patch again, I update it to v1.1.1. That means the latest patch is v1.1.1. The v1.1.0 patch, the latest version of the game, is available for download from the official Master System website. This game has no lag or slowdown whatsoever. It is fully optimized and runs very well. The focus of this section is to show you how to use the Zapper to play all of the features in the game. You can find a tutorial in the previous section on how to use the Zapper. Press [L] or [R] to highlight "ZAPPER" and press [X] or [Y] to start the Zapper. There is a green Z

Flexible Radio Delay is a software designed to help you control the delay between a TV tuner card and an external source of audio, such as an FM radio. You may be connected to a TV tuner card that is embedded in a television, or it may be a standalone component connected to your computer via an audio cable. You may want to use the TV tuner card's digital audio output to make the tuner card as well as other equipment in your home theater system act as a sound processor for your audio sources, such as an FM radio or a cassette tape deck. The delay that is created when audio from an FM radio is sent to a TV tuner card will be exactly the same as the delay that occurs when you use an FM radio and a cassette player to set up a home audio system. This is because the physical connections are not modified by the software. Radio Delay is designed to be used in the following way: Select the tuner card output device by using the combo menus provided. Use the buttons on the front of the software to select the source and type the desired delay in the delay field. Drag the slider bar to set the desired delay. If you'd like to change the delay value, select "Edit" and use the "Adjust" function to make the change. How to install Radio Delay?
